GI Benchmarking

Turning data into knowledge.

The challenge.

Turning data into useful information is key to the effective management of your GI facility. Unfortunately, too many facilities are data-rich and information-poor. Olympus EndoSite Consulting's GI Benchmarking Service can help. It lets you compare your facility's operations against similar facilities and best-practice models. The results can be critically important when making strategic plans.

The Olympus consulting approach.

Olympus EndoSite Consulting offers the ideal benchmarking opportunity. Unlike others in the industry, we are exclusively dedicated to GI procedure management and operational efficiency. Our consultative calls provide recommendations based on industry best practices. And we can leverage our experience to drive an effective implementation strategy that is custom-tailored to your facility.

The Olympus difference.

We adapt to your needs.

Our benchmarking program is applicable to any facility performing GI procedures – hospital or non-hospital, dedicated or not dedicated solely to GI procedures.

We stay relevant.

Our benchmarking encompasses matters critical to operational productivity – staffing, scheduling, equipment, and hot topics such as sedation.

We keep it confidential.

The web-based service is strictly confidential and easy to use. Reports are customized to your facility and a dashboard function allows “apples to apples” comparisons between your facility and others of the same type, volume and location.

We're here to serve.

Our Consulting Team is available for input assistance and to respond to technical questions. And if you need to discuss results, findings, or other areas of concern, our Nurse Consultants are ready to assist.
